Hey

Me May 03, 2025, 5:57 PM

Hello there,

Thank you so much for getting in touch with me. How may I assist you?

P

 Mahdi May 03, 2025, 5:57 PM

I'm looking to create a website very similar to cataloguepromo.fr, which offers free access to supermarket catalogues in France.

The catalogues are updated weekly or monthly, depending on the store. I would like to build a similar website but with a different visual style. I believe the catalogues on the original site are uploaded manually.

Would you be open to discussing this project with me? Do you already have an idea of how much a website like this would cost to build, including a few adjustments if needed?

Also, after the site is created, I'd like to know if it will be easy for me to manually update the catalogues for each supermarket myself.

Thanks a lot for your time.

Let me take some time to review your references. I am coming back to you shortly.

Stay tuned.

I need an ultra-lightweight website with quick, seamless navigation—that's my TOP priority. Users should be able to move between pages effortlessly and without friction.

Could you please tell me what the purpose of your website is and who the targeted audience is?

I would like to put ads on this website

Me May 03, 2025, 6:45 PM

But how will the ads come? Through the API, or you will manually upload them.

Let me know.

 Mahdi May 03, 2025, 6:46 PM

AdSense

Me May 03, 2025, 6:49 PM

But how will you show a different website catalog on your website?

P

 Mahdi May 03, 2025, 6:51 PM

Is it something you're capable to produce ?

P

 Mahdi May 03, 2025, 6:54 PM

What do you mean ?

P

 Mahdi May 03, 2025, 6:56 PM

Basically, you will need to create a slot where I can put my catalogues manually and can replace it whenever I want by uploaded them

P

 Mahdi May 03, 2025, 6:57 PM

Is it something difficult to build on WordPress ?

Me May 03, 2025, 6:57 PM

When I visited the reference site that you mentioned, I have seen that they show different website catalogues on their platform.

As a user when I will go that platform I can compare product price from there. All the data come in that website through Data scrapping.

I am not familiar with scrapping. If you can provide me different website API, then I can adjust

Hello Mahdi,

Thanks again for your detailed explanation. Based on everything we discussed, I confirm that your website is absolutely feasible without any data scraping. We can build a clean, ultra-lightweight site where you'll be able to manually upload catalogues (PDF or image), organize them by store or region, and display them to visitors. You'll also be able to monetize the traffic using Google AdSense.

Once the site is live, you'll have a simple admin panel where you can easily update or replace catalogues yourself — no coding needed.

We can either use WordPress (with custom post types and fields) or go with a custom-coded, lightweight solution if you prefer maximum performance.

Let me know if you'd like an estimated timeline and cost breakdown for the full project.

Looking forward to working together on this!

Best Regards.

 P Mahdi May 03, 2025, 7:03 PM

What's the performance differences between WordPress and custom coded

 Me May 03, 2025, 7:04 PM

WordPress is faster to build and easier to manage (no coding), but it can get slower if you add too many plugins or heavy themes.

Custom-coded sites are faster and lighter because they only include what's needed, but they take more time to build and are harder to update without a developer.

If you want speed and full control, custom code is best.

If you want ease and flexibility, WordPress works great.

Let me know what you prefer

 P Mahdi May 03, 2025, 7:06 PM

I just need catalogues slot for the moment. No comparison price

 Me May 03, 2025, 7:08 PM

Okay. Though you are requiring only a catalogue slot right now. No advanced features. I think WordPress will be the best fit for this.

So, may I make a project overview for you?

 Me May 03, 2025, 7:16 PM

As we discussed, I will develop a super-light, fast-loading website that shows updated supermarket catalogues (weekly/monthly), where you can manually upload or replace them anytime, and earn from Google AdSense.

Core features:

- Upload Catalogues (PDF or images) manually from the admin panel
- Organised by Stores (each supermarket has its page)
- Lightweight Design for fast page loading and smooth browsing
- AdSense integration to show ads and earn revenue

Pages:

- Home
- All Stores
- Single Store
- Catalogue Detail
- Search Results
- Contact
- Privacy Policy
- Terms of Use
- 404 Error
- Admin Login
- Admin Dashboard

User Role:

- Admin (You): Manage catalogues, store pages, and AdSense ads;
- Visitors (Users): Browse/view catalogues and click ads without login.

Is it something like that?

Review everything and let me know your opinion.

I look forward to hearing from you.

 P Mahdi May 03, 2025, 7:27 PM

My goals and priorities:

I need a site that is quickly operational, extremely lightweight, and smooth to ensure a frictionless browsing experience for customers.

I want to be able to update the catalogs as easily as possible, without needing any technical knowledge.

Clients should be able to view the catalogs in high quality directly on the website. I really want something very similar to the site I showed you.

I'm looking for a low-cost solution for now, and if it works well, I'll come back to you for a custom-built website.

If I go with WordPress, what potential issues might I face?

 P Mahdi May 03, 2025, 7:28 PM

Yes Mhamodul!

Please advise a pricing and delivery time

 Me May 03, 2025, 7:29 PM

Have you reviewed my project overview properly? Right now, I think WordPress will be best for you.
